Committed to Classicism by Cinzia Maria Sicca

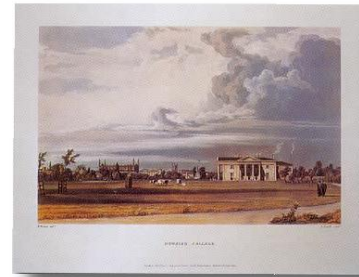

The author graduated from the University of Pisa in 1977 and was a Research Fellow of the College from 1981 to 1985. She found Downing had one of the richest but least known collections of architectural drawings documenting the various phases of its building history.

This beautifully illustrated and produced book setting out the architectural history of the College has a forward by HRH The Duchess of Kent, a kinswoman of Thomas Worsley the College's third master, and the mother of a Downing man. (226 pages)

Downing College Chapel Choir CD

A collection of 18 traditional choral classics recorded by members of the College Choir to commemorate the 50th anniversary of the chapel building as its present place of worship

Copy of a print published by Ackermann in 1814

The artist was William Westall (1781-1850) who travelled extensively as a young man eventually becoming largely employed in the illustration of topographical works for Ackermann and other publishers. (Approx. 409 x 312 mm)

Bicentenary Tie (silk)

Association Tie (polyester or silk)

The History of Downing College by Stanley French

An authoritative work by a former Fellow, Steward, Domestic Bursar, Emeritus Fellow, Honorary Archivist, President of the Downing College Association in 1977-78 and for three decades its Secretary and Editor of the Newsletter - supplied as a photocopy (145 pages)

Aspects of Downing History

Five authors, including Stanley French, describe in detail some of the history and personalities of the College. (134 pages)

Aspects of Downing History Vol. II

Yet more insights into Downing's history; several pieces again by Stanley French

This volume has a foreword by Dr Peter Matthias, a former Master. (94 pages)

Beverages

A selection of beverages is usually available for sale at Association and College functions in Cambridge – we regret we cannot offer these via mail order.

All profits made by the Association from merchandise sales go to the Downing College Association Student Support Fund. The order form on the next page may be printed and mailed to the Association with your requirements.
